With look and tone, We might never take back again. For though in the quiet evening You may give me the kiss of peace

Yet it might be That never for me The pain of the heart should cease, How many go forth in the morning. That never come home at night! And hearts have broken For harsh words spoken

That sorrow can ne'er set right. We have careful thoughts for the stranger And smiles for the sometime guest; But oft for "our own" The bitter tone,

Though we love "our own" the best, Ab! lips with the curve impatient Ah! brow with that look of scorp, 'Tware a cruel fate. Were the night too late

Matrimonial Mottoes

To undo the work of morn.

Never both be angry at once.

Never taunt with a past mistake. Let a kiss be the prelude to a rebuke. Never allow a request to be repeated. Let self abnegation be the habit of both.

"I forgot" is never an accepsable excuse.

Marry into a family which you have long known,

Never make a remark at the expense of the other. Never talk at one another, either alone or in company. Give your warmest sympathies for each other's trials, If one is angry, let the other part the lips only for a kiss. Never speak loud to one another unless the house is on fire.

Let each strive to yield oftenest to the wishes of the other.

Marry into different blood and temperament from your own.

Always leave home with loving words, for they may be the last.

Consult one another in all that comes within the experience, observation or sphere of the other.

Good Advice to Girls.

Speaking of the anxiety of girls to get through girlhood hurriedly and get into womanhood, or rather into young ladyhood, without awaiting to enjoy the beautiful season of girlhood, Bishop Morris said :

"Wait patiently, my children, through the whole limit of your gir!hood. Go not efter your womanhood; let it come to you. Keep out of the public view. Cultivate refinement and modesty. The cares and responsibilities of life will come soon enough. When they come you will meet them-I trust, as true women should. But, oh'! be not so unwise as to throw away your girlhood. Rob not yourself of this beautiful season, which, wise's spent, will brighten all your future life."

Saving smart things does not ray. It may gratify your spite at first, but it is better to have friends than encmies; and if you cannot make people happy, at least refrain from adding to their misery. What if this women is not your ideal of womanly perfection, or that man your model man? Your mission on earth is not to remind them of the fact. Each of us has fau'ts of his own or her own; in correcting them we shall find ample occupation. A "sting" or a "dig" never did any good-never helped any one to be becter. One who falls in the babit of giving them soon looks ill-natured. It is not always possible to join the Musua! Admiration Society and be a good member, but at least one can hold one's tongue.

The ideal life is to have clear thought. far and fine vision. It is to see the meaning and the true relation of all things. It is to be free, unprejudiced, unawed by custom. It is to be open to all light, and sincere in the reception and expression of it. It is to have an inward life forever tending to the outward. It is to have the outward forover made splendid by inward illuminations. It is to be independent, centered in ourselves, getting the grandest truths from ourselves, yet eagerly yearning for and recognizing the help of

He has succeeded in combining in them the heretofore antagonistic qualities of a strengthening, purgative & purfying tonic.
